

Begonia boliviensis 'Santa Cruz™ Sunset'
American Garden Award 2012 Entry

Begonia Santa Cruz lights up your garden with an abundance of scarlet/orange blooms. Its elegant softly cascading form is perfect for hanging baskets; urns or mass plantings in your garden. Surprisingly heat, drought and rain tolerant, this summer beauty thrives in any location from full sun to shade.

- This annual thrives in any location from full sun to shade
- Masses of fiery red 2 to 3 inch blooms adorn bushy, mounded trailing plants
- Looks full and lush in pots and hanging baskets
- Beautiful in the garden landscape as a medium height divider
- Great heat and drought tolerance

www.americangardenaward.com